THE PERFORMING ARTS ACADEMY PRESENTS
‘The Life of Galileo’

Students from the Ocean County Vocational Technical School’s Performing Arts Academy will present ‘The Life of Galileo’ at the Jay and Linda Grunin Center for the Arts at Ocean County College, Toms River.

To purchase tickets go to www.tickets.ocean.edu or call the Ocean County College Box Office 732-255-0500.

Galileo Galilei was born in Italy in 1564, to a family of aristocratic lineage but average wealth. As a young man Galileo went to the University of Pisa to study medicine but his interests soon turned to mathematics and astronomy. Entranced in a career that doesn’t pay well, Galileo finds himself short of money. When Galileo learns of a novel invention, the telescope, he seizes an opportunity to build his fortune. Galileo replicates the invention, but then sells it to the Venetian Republic as his own creation.

Galileo uses the telescope to substantiate Copernicus’ heliocentric model of our solar system, and publishes his findings, which goes against both popular belief and church doctrine. His unorthodox teachings cause great sorrow for Galileo and his family. Upon being threatened with torture by church officials, he recants his teachings. Galileo, old and broken, lives out his last days under house arrest. Galileo entrusts one of his former students with a book containing all his scientific discoveries, asking him to smuggle it out of Italy to share with the world.

Tickets for all shows are $13.

GROUNDBREAKING CEREMONY HELD FOR NEW CONSTRUCTION PARTNERSHIP WITH OCVTS AND VISITATION RELIEF CENTER

Ocean County Vocational Technical School and The Visitation Relief Center of Brick held a groundbreaking ceremony for a new home construction in Brick Township. The property is owned by Gail Johnson who lost her home to Superstorm Sandy. Due to mounting health issues and construction delays Ms. Johnson has been living in temporary housing since the storm. The OCVTS New Home Construction Program will rebuild a home over the course of this school year.

The New Home Construction Program had completed the construction of two homes in the past two years and was in search of a new project. Paul Barlo of Barlo & Associates, Architects, of Brick has worked closely with OCVTS for years providing internships and mentoring opportunities for OCVTS students. Mr. Barlo has also been involved with the efforts of the Visitation Relief Center since it was established in the aftermath of Sandy to rebuild the local communities. Mr. Barlo was instrumental in forging this new partnership.

According to Trish Wall, Operations Coordinator for the Visitation Relief Center, “Over the past two and a half years the following partners have worked diligently to come up with a solution to bring Gail back home: Visitation Relief Center, Ocean County Vocational Technical School, Southern State Contracting, Catholic Charities of Trenton, the Home Depot, Barlo & Associates, and Ramirez Engineering.”

Ms. Brea, along with several other scholarship recipients, received the award at the October MODC Scholarship Recognition Luncheon held at The Mill at Spring Lake Heights.

Albertina Brea practices skills on the construction site.

The OCVTS New Home Construction Program is a 10-month accelerated construction trades training program for adult students. The students receive training in: extensive safety standards, use of hand and power tools, blueprint reading, layout, industry-related mathematics, skills in framing, roofing, sheathing, siding, door and window installation, staircases, drywall installation, insulation, trim work, ceilings and floors. Students also receive the 10-hour OSHA Hazard Recognition Training Program as well as CPR AED First Aid training. The program provides a unique approach to real-world experience and hands-on skills as students build an actual home through partnerships with local social services agencies.
OCEAN COUNTY FOUNDATION HOLDS ANNUAL GOLF OUTING

The Ocean County Foundation for Vocational Technical Education held its Annual Golf Outing fundraiser on October 9. The tournament was held at the Atlantis Golf Course in Little Egg Harbor. A buffet lunch, served prior to tee off, was prepared by OCVTS Adult Culinary Arts students at Cuisine on the Green, the Ocean County Center for Culinary Arts, which is located adjacent to the golf course. Beautiful Fall weather made for a great day for golf.

This year a cooking seminar, ‘Cuisine Off the Green’ was added for people who wanted to participate in the fundraising but did not play golf. Chefs Ian Smith and Jason Crispin demonstrated the techniques for a delicious three-course meal. Participants prepared the dishes step by step and enjoyed sampling their efforts.

The Golf Outing is one of the major fundraising events for the Foundation. Through various fundraising efforts and the generosity of private resources the Foundation is focused on providing financial support, through scholarships, for adult learners who choose OCVTS for their career and technical education and training.

Since the Foundation began in 1994, it has awarded over $537,000 in scholarships to OCVTS students and over $490,000 in grants to teachers and programs.

OCVT ACADEMY ADMISSION INFORMATION SESSIONS

Interest in admissions to the Marine Academy of Technology and Environmental Science and the Performing Arts Academy continues to increase each year. OCVTS Career Academy Admission representative Nicole Wallner has visited 19 middle schools throughout Ocean County. She has presented academy information to over 4,500 students this year. Students were shown a video explaining the academy approach to learning and Ms. Wallner discussed the application requirements, process and procedures. A Q&A session followed. The students were provided with the dates and times of the academy admission information sessions where each academy is discussed in detail and application material is distributed. Middle school students and their families are strongly encouraged to attend one of these sessions. Students then work with their guidance counselors to begin the application process. Application deadline is December 10, 2015.

This year, Ms. Wallner's presentations have included additional information about the OCVTS shared-time programs, available to students as high school junior and seniors. Informing students about OCVTS programs and services at a younger age empowers students to make informed decisions about their class scheduling and plan for their future. Whether their plans are to attend college or not, OCVTS can be an extremely beneficial element of student success.
